"Disturbing Trend": SC junks plea over Sarma's 'Miya' remark

NEW DELHI

The Supreme Court struck a displeased note Monday afternoon as it turned down petitions to file a police case, and order an inquiry by a Special Investigation Team (SIT) against Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma over alleged hate speech incidents.

A bench led by Chief Justice Surya Kant, and including Justice Joymalya Bagchi and Justice Vipul Pancholi, directed the petitioners to first approach the Gauhati High Court and lamented the growing trend of the top court becoming the first stop to resolve disputes, particularly before an election.

In this instance, Assam will hold an Assembly election likely in March or April.

The incidents in question refer to a video, released by the ruling BJP's Assam unit, that showed him shooting at a photograph of Muslims and, before that, comments about Miyas, i.e., Bengali-speaking Muslims whom the BJP has called "illegal infiltrators".

On these issues – the video and the comments – the court urged political parties to restrain themselves and "act within the boundaries of constitutional morality". "But this (approaching of the Supreme Court directly) is becoming a trend just before elections," the petitioners were told.

X goes down worldwide, including India

MUMBAI

Social media platform X, formerly known as Twitter, went down for thousands of users worldwide on Monday, with reports of widespread disruptions pouring in from the US, UK and India.

According to Downdetector, outage complaints surged to more than 25,000 at around 18:30 IST, as users reported problems accessing the platform and loading posts. The cause of the outage was not immediately clear.

Users across multiple countries flagged issues nearly simultaneously, suggesting the disruption was not limited to a specific geography. Many said the app and website failed to refresh feeds, while others reported login problems.

Downdetector's live tracking showed a sharp spike in complaints within a short window, pointing to a significant service interruption.

Most of these users reported issues with the website, while others raised complaints about the app. A portion of netizens also struggled to access their feeds or timelines on X, the data showed.

BWSSB lists 448 water-critical zones in city

Officials say these are not large layouts or entire colonies, but small, concentrated micro-pockets within larger supply zones

BENGALURU

With temperatures climbing earlier than usual in Bengaluru, BWSSB has identified 448 high-alert water-stressed pockets and launched a Rs 10.1-crore summer preparedness plan to prevent shortages.

According to IMD, daytime temperatures in Bengaluru are expected to hover between 29 degree celsius and 30 degree celsius. The city recorded 30 degree celsius on Sunday, while areas around KIA are likely to see a further rise in the coming days.

Unlike previous years, when emergency measures were triggered after complaints increased, BWSSB this time mapped vulnerable areas in advance. Most of the identified pockets are interior stretches in north and east Bengaluru, where residents depend heavily on groundwater and borewell sustainability remains uncertain. Officials said these are limited clusters where drinking water access could become critical if groundwater levels fall sharply between March and May. To address the risk, BWSSB will deploy 1,260 mini-water tanks across its four zones.

Each Sintex tank, with a capacity of 5,000 litres, will serve as a local drinking water buffer in stress-prone areas. In addition, 117 BWSSB tankers have been earmarked for deployment, while 104 private tankers have been identified to be hired as backup if required. About 60 additional tankers have also been arranged in anticipation of rising demand. Standard BWSSB tankers carry between 6,000 and 12,000 litres. To improve distribution, 91 additional Cauvery water filling points are planned. The Board has also arranged filling support for 196 reverse osmosis plants across the city.

Further, 47 water infrastructure works and 14 lake-filling projects are under way to strengthen local water availability during peak summer. Officials said this year's approach focuses on decentralised storage and quicker tanker turnaround. The early preparedness comes amid higher-than-normal Feb temperatures and uncertainty over groundwater levels. However, BWSSB chairman Ram Prasath Manohar V said the city is better placed than it was in 2024. "I don't see much summer difficulty for the city; we are well prepared this year, he said, pointing to improved Cauvery supply capacity.

Under the Cauvery Stage V augmentation, BWSSB now has a total pumping capacity of 773 million litres per day (MLD), of which around 400 MLD is currently being utilised. We still have more than 40% additional pumping capacity available. Even in a worst-case scenario where groundwater levels fall more than expected, we can match the requirement with Cauvery water, he said.

Min Reddy raises alarm over poor performance of e-buses

BENGALURU

The number of BMTC bus accidents in Bengaluru has been increasing in recent times. Most of the accidents are caused by BMTC electric buses (EV Bus).

Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy has expressed his anger over the maintenance of these electric buses and has written a second letter to Union Minister HD Kumaraswamy.

Lakhs of people rely on BMTC buses every day. BMTC has over 6,000 buses, out of which about 1,700 are electric buses.

But in recent times, EV buses have been causing a lot of accidents and brake failures. BMTC is running these buses on a contract basis from private companies on the GCC model as per the instructions of the central government. The company itself is filling the drivers in these buses. Therefore, no action is being taken against the driver who caused the accident. In addition, Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy has expressed dissatisfaction that the operations of BMTC Corporation are being affected due to lack of maintenance of electric buses and battery problems.

First letter yield no results: Min

Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy said 5-6 months ago, I had written a letter to Union Minister HD Kumaraswamy regarding the maintenance of electric buses. But there was no reply, assured that would solve the problem in 45 days. Hence, I have written a second letter.

Still, these electric buses are breaking down more often. EV buses are supposed to run 200 kilometers in a day. But the battery is only getting 100-120 kilometers. They are breaking down repeatedly, the Transport Minister has said.

2 more Vande Bharat sleeper rakes to be ready by next month

BENGALURU

While anticipation over the country's second Vande Bharat sleeper service continues, two more rakes are set to be readied by next month.

This rollout from the city-based public sector undertaking (PSU), Bharat Earth Movers Ltd (BEML), will enable the second service to be flagged off. As per BEML's original agreement with the integral coach factory (ICF) in Chennai, a total of 10 sleeper rakes with 16 coaches each were supposed to be delivered to the Indian Railways by March 31.

However, sources at ICF state the deadline will be missed. We expect the third and fourth rakes of Vande Bharat to be delivered before the end of March. For the six remaining rakes, we are trying to make sure to provide a rake every month from then on," an ICF official told.

As of now, a new tentative deadline for the initial batch of 10 coaches could be August. Even if it is delivered from Bengaluru, they will go through trials, testing and approvals, so there is no point in hurrying or rushing," the official added.

With demand for more Vande Bharat sleeper trains, especially from Karnataka, the railway ministry officially announced plans to manufacture 260 more rakes in the future. Answering a Lok Sabha question last week, Union minister for railways Ashwini Vaishnav stated, Vande Bharat sleeper train manufacturing programme is being executed in a phased manner through prototype development, trials and series production by BEML & Integral Coach Factory, Chennai and technology partners.

According to ICF, the project is only in the design stage and will only be taken up following the completion of the initial batch of 10 rakes. A BEML spokesperson confirmed that no such order was undertaken by the PSU as of now. Though there are official plans for the manufacture of 260 Vande Bharat sleeper rakes, sources within the ICF confirmed that 50 more rakes will be manufactured by the factory independently. These rakes, contrary to the rest, will have 24 coaches along with pantry cars.

Stat should ensure adequate medicine supply: BYV

BENGALURU

BJP state President and MLA BY Vijayendra has expressed concern about what would happen to the poor if the Chief Minister, who has given the opportunity to travel abroad to MLAs, also sends the Health Minister to Australia and New Zealand.

He spoke at a press conference on Monday at the BJP state office. The poor are currently suffering due to lack of medicines in government hospitals in rural areas. He alleged that information is being received that surgeries have been postponed in many places. The Health Minister criticized the Chief Minister for not paying attention to this. Vijayendra urged the state government to take steps for adequate supply of medicines before sending the MLAs out.

Unable to tolerate the popularity of Prime Minister Narendra Modiji, the Congress government had also stoned Janaushadhi Kendras. He said that the government had gone out to create an artificial shortage of medicines in rural areas and to do a fraudulent business called emergency purchase without calling for tenders, which has given rise to suspicion among the people of the state. He demanded that the state government and ministers should wake up and pay attention to this. This problem should be resolved immediately.

Siddaramaiah's son Yathindra said that after Shivaratri, DK Shivakumar will also be good; it will be good for everyone, and he criticized that he did not say that it will be good for the people of the state. He analysed that the Chief Minister's son had very sensitively exposed the Chief Minister's resignation from his post. Yathindra also gave a hint that he would join the cabinet if the Chief Minister resigns.

Above all, the Congress government led by Siddaramaiah has done injustice to the people of the entire state in the last two and a half years.

Accident claim: HC frees insurer, fixes liability on bike owner

BENGALURU

In a twist-filled compensation battle stemming from a 2009 road accident, the high court has held that the owner of an implicated motorcycle, and not the insurer must pay enhanced damages to an injured stenographer, after finding evidence of collusion and wrongful vehicle implication.

Justice P Sree Sudha, while enhancing the compensation, exonerated ICICI Lombard General Insurance Company Limited from any liability, observing that the case involved a deliberate attempt to rope in an insured vehicle to secure wrongful financial gain.

The case dates back to August 30, 2009, when J Subramanya, a Stenographer at the Office of the Director, Karnataka Engineer Research Station in Krishna Raja Sagara (KRS), was travelling from Mysuru to Pandavapura. Near Hotel Mayura at Srirangapatna on the Bengaluru-Mysuru Road, his motorcycle was allegedly hit by a Hero Honda bike ridden rashly from the opposite direction. In his first complaint filed the very next day, he named one Suresh as the rider of the offending vehicle and claimed serious injuries that kept him off work for months. However, the narrative shifted dramatically just days later. A second complaint, filed on September 6, 2009 by a relative, cited an entirely different vehicle and another rider, S Shivakumar, as being involved in the crash, raising suspicions about the authenticity of the claim.

Initially, the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal at Pandavapura awarded a modest Rs 79,850 with 6 percent interest in 2013 against Subramanya's claim of Rs 20 lakh.

Mom tied up with maternity shoot, kid drowns in pond

What began as a routine visit to a maternity photoshoot venue ended in grief for a woman from JP Nagar after her three-year-old boy drowned in a pond at a private studio in Giddenahalli, near Magadi Main Road. C Lakshveer had accompanied his mother, Swathi, who is seven months pregnant, to The Shire Studio, a location popular for maternity and pre-wedding shoots.

Swathi had gone to the studio with a pregnant friend who had booked the venue for her photoshoot. Swathi's husband Charan Raj, a software engineer, had travelled to the US for work about a week earlier. Before leaving, Swathi informed him that she was headed for the shoot and took Lakshveer along. According to investigators, Swathi was occupied with the photoshoot while the child was playing within the studio premises. The property has three small ponds. Police suspect Lakshveer may have wandered towards one of them and accidentally slipped into the water.

When Swathi could not find her son, she began searching the premises. He was later found in one of the ponds. Studio staff pulled him out and rushed him to a nearby hospital, where doctors declared him dead on arrival.

Police said the pond had more than 2ft of water. Lakshveer, who was about 3ft tall, may have been unable to regain his footing, possibly getting stuck in the mud, they said. A case of unnatural death has been registered at Madanayakanahalli police station based on a complaint filed by Swathi's father, Ramesh Babu. The complaint does not blame the studio management. The child's body was handed over to the family after autopsy at Nelamangala government hospital. Police said Charan Raj has been informed and is returning to Bengaluru. Officers added that the grandparents were in shock and could not provide detailed statements.

LIFELINE, NOT ANYMORE?

Indira canteen under fire over rubbery idlis, watery sambar

BENGALURU

Hailed once as a lifeline for the urban poor, Indira Canteens of Bengaluru are now battling complaints of poor food quality, staff shortages and crumbling infrastructure.

A visit to several Indira Canteens across the city reveal a worrying picture, watery sambar, undersized portions, locked toilets and erratic water supply were common place. Launched in 2017 to provide affordable meals, Rs 5 for breakfast and Rs 10 for lunch and dinner, the canteens cater to thousands of customers daily. As per guidelines, a breakfast should weigh 225 grams and meals 300 grams. However, customers allege these standards are rarely met. Bengaluru has 198 Indira Canteens out of which 169 are operational and 29 suspended.

At the Rajajinagar canteen, regular customer and daily wage worker Manjunath Gowda said, we come here even now only because it is affordable. But idlis are often hard, and sambar is watery. For Rs 10, we don't expect luxury, but at least basic quality should be maintained.

Rajanna Byali, a sanitation worker and another regular customer at KR Market canteen, echoed similar concerns. Hailing from Bidar, Rajanna came in search of work in Bengaluru and worked with BBMP for over two years. Sometimes the rice is undercooked, and the vegetables are very few.

Still, we eat because we cannot afford hotels, he said. We have a canteen inside the GBA building, but the challenge is that we are not always around the GBA head office. When I head out, I search for the nearest canteen, but find that most of them are poorly maintained and their food quality is poor. It is a challenge for us to cook three meals a day at home because of time and cost factors. But swallowing the morsel that is served here is painful.

The cooking staff say they are stretched thin. Shobha Murthy, who has been working at the Chalavadi Palya canteen for six years, said, "We cook and serve hundreds every day with very limited staff. If one person is absent, the whole system struggles."

Nikhil Slams Government's 1000-Day Celebration As Debt

JDS youth leader Nikhil Kumaraswamy criticizes state government, calling its achievements mere debt accumulation

VIJAYAPURA

The state government recently celebrated completing 1,000 days in office, marking its three-year tenure. While officials and supporters took pride in this milestone, Nikhil Kumaraswamy, president of the JDS youth wing, sharply criticized the government's performance, saying that their achievements are nothing but a growing debt burden.

Speaking to the media in Vijayapura, Nikhil highlighted several concerns about the current administration. "People are celebrating 1,000 days, but every day there is chaos and mismanagement. The state is slipping backward while loans of ₹300 crore are being taken daily," he said. He also mentioned that some Congress MLAs have gone abroad on tours, questioning the government's priorities.

According to Nikhil, the government has failed to deliver meaningful development for the state. Instead, he emphasized that the only significant outcome so far has been a rise in debt, which he described as their "main achievement."

Meanwhile, the JDS is preparing for a major event in Vijayapura on February 27 to celebrate its silver jubilee. A large gathering will be held near Sindgi Naka, where party workers from seven districts are expected to participate. The rally aims to highlight the party's accomplishments and engage supporters across the region.

The contrast between the state government's 1,000-day celebration and Nikhil's criticism has sparked debates among political circles. Citizens are watching closely as both parties prepare their narratives ahead of upcoming events. With the government touting milestones and the opposition raising alarms about debt, the political discourse in Vijayapura is heating up, making the coming weeks crucial for public opinion.

Mass Ishtalinga Puja Held at Lingayat Maha Math on Maha Shivaratri

BIDAR

Ishtalinga Yoga is a simple and profound path to realise and please God, said Prabhudeva Swamiji of the Lingayat Maha Math. He was speaking after conducting a demonstration of Ishtalinga Puja during a mass prayer programme organised by the Lingayat Seva Dal on the occasion of Maha Shivaratri at the Lingayat Maha Math in Basavagiri on Sunday.

Swamiji explained that Ishtalinga Yoga is a spiritual practice that unites the individual soul (Atma) with the Supreme (Paramatma) and helps achieve harmony between Linga and Anga. He recalled that Akka Annapurnatai had established a gathering of Shivayoga practitioners to encourage devotees to pursue this spiritual discipline.

"The Ishtalinga is the subtle form of the Supreme Being. It is our great fortune that, through the grace of Basava, it rests in our palm and accepts our worship," he said. He urged devotees to perform daily puja and recite vachanas regularly under the inspiration of Shivayoga. "Children should also be taught Linga Puja, as it enhances memory power and spiritual awareness," he added. Describing Shivaratri as a day to remember Lord Shiva, he said it is a festival of gratitude to the Supreme who sustains the world with soil, rain and crops.

Writer Ramesh Mathpati, speaking on the occasion, said that the concept of Shatsthala Jnana and the method of Pranalinga worship are elaborated in the vachanas of Channabasavanna. He noted that Pranalinga Puja is being conducted based on vachana traditions under the guidance of Akka Annapurnatai. Performing the puja in the early morning hours yields greater spiritual benefit, he said, adding that Basavanna had advised devotees to worship the Linga throughout the sacred day and night of Shivaratri.

CM IN 2028

Yatnal Slams Vijayendra; Says 'Strengthen Shikaripura First'

VIJAYAPUR

Vijayapura City MLA Basangouda Patil Yatnal launched a sharp attack on BJP State President B. Y. Vijayendra, responding strongly to his recent remarks.

Reacting to Vijayendra's reported statement advising leaders to focus only on their respective constituencies and not interfere in Vijayapura–Bagalkot matters, Yatnal said Vijayendra should first ensure that his own constituency, Shikaripura, is secure. "Shikaripura itself is shaking. Instead of roaming around Mysuru, Varuna, Tumakuru City and Rajajinagar, he should first strengthen his own seat," Yatnal remarked sarcastically.

He further criticized Vijayendra for allegedly failing to speak strongly on major issues in the Assembly. "He did not raise his voice on the excise scam. While R. Ashok and Sunil Kumar spoke strongly, the State President remained soft," he alleged. "I directly attack the CM and Deputy CM in the House. During the last session, Vijayendra was not even present in the Assembly," he added.

Yatnal accused Vijayendra of failing in his responsibilities and said resignation would be the only solution. "It is better for him to stay at home," he said.

Taking a dig at the Congress leadership over the issue of legislators' foreign tours, Yatnal also targeted Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister D. K. Shivakumar. "This is the last opportunity for D.K. Shivakumar. He is eager to become CM now, but Siddaramaiah is strong and has the support of MLAs," he said.

He also made allegations against the Chief Minister's son, Yathindra Siddaramaiah, and remarked that the ongoing power tussle could even lead to dissolution of the Assembly. "Such a political atmosphere has been created in the state," he claimed.

Hinting at political realignments ahead of the next elections, Yatnal said, "In 2028, whether it is a BJP government, a Yatnal government, or even a 'JCB government,' we will see. I am confident that I will become the Chief Minister of Karnataka in 2028. I will take oath before the media," he asserted. Responding to speculation about a possible change in the BJP State President's post, Yatnal said he was unaware of internal party matters. "Whether he will be replaced in November or remain as long as the sun and moon exist, I do not know," he remarked.

Crores spent, yet villagers struggle for drinking water supply

HAVERI

The ambitious Har Ghar Jal project, launched under the Jal Jeevan Mission with the objective of providing safe drinking water to every rural household, has reportedly fallen into disrepair in Neshvi village of Rattihalli taluk in Haveri district.

Though the project was implemented at an estimated cost of around ₹50 lakh, villagers allege that even after nearly five years, water is not being supplied to individual homes. Over 600 houses in the village were fitted with pipelines under the scheme, raising hopes that residents would receive regular tap water connections. However, those expectations have now turned into disappointment.

Residents say that despite crores of rupees being spent across various villages under the Har Ghar Jal initiative, the ground reality remains far from satisfactory. In Neshvi village, pipelines have been laid to doorsteps, but taps remain dry. As a result, people are forced to depend on public taps and standposts for their daily water needs.

Villagers expressed frustration that instead of enjoying the promised door-to-door supply, they now queue up at common water points. In some areas, public taps are overcrowded as families gather with pots and containers to collect water.

Court awards death penalty to three men in Israeli woman rape, murder case

KOPPAL

A court in Karnataka on Monday sentenced three men to death for sexually assaulting an Israeli tourist and murdering a youth in Koppal district last year. The Gangavathi Civil Court convicted Mallesh alias Handi Malla, Sharanabasava and Chaitanya Sai on February 7 and pronounced the sentence on February 16. According to the prosecution, the crime occurred near Sanapur on March 6, 2025. A homestay owner had taken tourists — Pankaj from Maharashtra, Bibhas from Odisha, Daniel from the US, and an Israeli woman — for stargazing near the Tungabhadra canal. The three accused allegedly arrived on a motorcycle and picked a fight over a financial dispute. They then pushed the three men into the canal and threw stones to prevent them from escaping. Bibhas Kumar drowned, while Daniel rescued Pankaj. The assailants raped the homestay owner and the Israeli woman and fled with mobile phones, cash and a camera.

Public Prosecutor Nagalakshmi said the case involved gang rape, murder, attempted murder, robbery and extortion. Judge Sadananda Nagappa Naik awarded capital punishment under Section 103 of the Bharatiya Nyay Sanhita and life imprisonment till natural death for gang rape. The convicts can appeal.

Call For 'Govt Souharda Salons' In Villages

Savita Samaja leader seeks action against untouchability, private salon dominance.

GADAG

Gadag District Savita Samaja President Krishna H. Hadapada has called for the establishment of Government Souharda Salons in every gram panchayat across the district, stating that the move would promote social harmony and ensure dignity in service delivery, especially to Dalit communities.

In a press statement, Hadapada said breaking the vicious cycle of caste discrimination and living in harmony with Dalit brethren is the collective resolve of the Savita community. Humanity is our supreme religion. Loving and respecting fellow human beings is our culture.

Dalit brothers are like our own family members. Providing them respectful grooming services is our constitutional duty, he asserted.

He alleged that in some villages, vested interests belonging to upper caste groups are exerting pressure on members of the Savita community and continuing to encourage untouchability practices. Terming such attitudes as outdated and inhumane, he warned that anyone obstructing harmonious service or issuing threats would face legal action under the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act.

Hadapada demanded that the government provide adequate protection to barbers who are willing to offer services without discrimination. He further urged the state to establish Government Souharda Salons in every gram panchayat and recognize Savita community barbers working there as government employees to ensure economic security and social protection.

He announced that a memorandum highlighting these demands would soon be submitted to the Chief Minister through the Gadag Deputy Commissioner.

Mathematics Is Language Of God: KS Narendra Babu

KOLAR

Renowned astrologer and advocate K. S. Narendra Babu stated that mathematics is the very language of God, asserting that the universe itself was created through mathematical principles.

He was speaking at a simple felicitation programme organised by citizens at his office in Kolar, where he delivered a discourse on astrology and its scientific foundations. Emphasising the deep connection between numbers and existence, Narendra Babu explained that the structure of time itself reflects mathematical precision — 24 hours in a day, seven days in a week, 30 days in a month and 365 days in a year.

Every calculation and numerical pattern in the universe follows a predetermined order. Behind every number lies a profound background. Through mathematics, one can experience the existence of the divine, he said.

He further elaborated that an individual's date, time and place of birth are all governed by numerical values, and these numbers help reveal various aspects of a person's life. By preparing and analysing the Panchanga (Hindu almanac), astrologers interpret planetary positions and calculate predictions related to personality, profession, marriage, family, education, financial status and social life.

Narendra Babu noted that mathematics forms the foundation of astrology, and deeper study of this divine language continues to uncover many mysteries.

He observed that in recent times, the younger generation has shown increasing interest in tantra, mantra and yantra practices, and efforts are underway to simplify complex astrological calculations for wider understanding.

However, he cautioned that interpreting planetary influences requires intellectual depth and analytical skill. If astrology is practised without proper knowledge and wisdom, it may mislead people.

Minister chairs KDP meet, pushes 30-bed hospitals in all hoblis

KOPPAL

District In-charge Minister Shivraj S. Thangadgi directed officials to ensure that healthcare services reach people quickly and efficiently by establishing at least 30-bed Community Health Centres (CHCs) in all hoblis of Koppal district.

He was presiding over the third quarterly Karnataka Development Programme (KDP) progress review meeting for 2025–26, including the 20-point programme, held at the J.H. Patel Hall of the Zilla Panchayat on Monday.

Currently, 12 hoblis in the district have Community Health Centres, while eight more require new CHCs. The minister instructed health officials to submit proposals for upgrading existing centres and constructing new ones with adequate medical officers, staff and essential infrastructure. He assured that funding would be provided by the state government, with additional support expected from the Kalyana Karnataka Region Development Board.

Thangadgi emphasized regular inspections of Primary Health Centres, CHCs, taluk hospitals, women and child hospitals and other facilities to address deficiencies promptly. Bill Gates, AP CM review natural farming, AI innov

YSRCP asks what advantages Bill Gates' visit will offer to the people of Andhra Pradesh

AMRAVATI

Microsoft co-founder Bill Gates visited an agricultural field in Undavalli on Monday, accompanied by Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister Chandrababu Naidu.

The duo observed crops cultivated through natural farming techniques and were briefed on how the state is integrating Artificial Intelligence into agriculture. Officials explained that AI tools are helping farmers monitor crop health, increase productivity, and receive timely guidance based on soil conditions, crop type, and market prices.

CM Naidu lauded farmers for blending traditional methods with modern technology, calling them pioneers in adopting innovation while preserving heritage practices. Gates received a warm traditional welcome and was shown demonstrations of drones being used to improve farming efficiency. Naidu also recalled his first meeting with Gates in 1997, when he shared his vision for building a technology ecosystem and later presented his Swarna Andhra 2047 initiative, aimed at long-term development and prosperity.

The visit included discussions on potential collaboration with the Gates Foundation to promote sustainable agriculture and enhance the overall quality of life in the state. Naidu emphasized Andhra Pradesh's ongoing efforts to empower farmers through technology while encouraging environmentally friendly and natural farming methods.

The engagement highlighted the state's commitment to combining tradition with innovation, demonstrating how modern tools like AI and drones can work alongside time-tested agricultural practices. Gates' visit underscored the global interest in Andhra Pradesh's model of sustainable and technology-driven agriculture, setting an example for other regions to follow.

YSRCP questions purpose of Gates' visit

The Yuvajana Sramika Rythu Congress Party (YSRCP) on Monday questioned the purpose of Bill Gates' visit to Andhra Pradesh, alleging the government is focusing on publicity over pressing issues in welfare hostels. Party spokesperson TJR Sudhakar Babu asked what tangible benefits Gates' visit would bring to the people and criticized repeated displays of graphics and visuals of the proposed capital city without real progress on the ground. YSRCP highlighted ongoing health concerns in welfare hostels, citing nearly 900 students injured or hospitalised over 14 months due to illness or alleged food poisoning, including rat bite incidents. The party accused Chief Minister Chandrababu Naidu of using Gates' visit to divert attention from governance failures. Sudhakar Babu demanded that Gates, along with government leaders including Education Minister Nara Lokesh and Deputy CM Pawan Kalyan, visit welfare hostels and eat the same midday meals as students to understand the issues firsthand.

'Extremely tragic': Shah condoles Bhiwadi chemical factory fire

NEW DELHI

Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Monday expressed grief over the death of seven people in a chemical factory fire in Bhiwadi, Rajasthan.

He offered condolences to the families of the deceased and prayed for the swift recovery of those injured. Shah said the local administration is providing all possible medical assistance to the victims.

Earlier, Prime Minister Narendra Modi also expressed sorrow, calling the incident tragic and urging prompt care for the injured. The fire occurred in the Khairthal-Tijara district, with officials confirming that seven people were burned to death and several others injured.

Rajasthan Congress President Govind Singh Dotasra criticized the state government, saying such accidents have become common. He recalled a similar chemical tanker fire in Ajmer that killed 16 people and demanded urgent action to prevent future tragedies.

Rajasthan Chief Minister Bhajanlal Sharma described the incident as "heartbreaking" and directed the district administration to carry out relief and rescue operations. He prayed for the departed souls and wished speedy recovery for the injured. Authorities continue to investigate the cause of the fire and assess damages.

The Bhiwadi fire has once again highlighted safety concerns in industrial areas, prompting political leaders to call for stricter regulations and immediate action to protect workers and nearby residents.

US Ambassador Gor visits Western Command HQ

CHANDIGARH

US Ambassador to India Sergio Gor on Monday landed in Chandigarh and said he looks forward to visiting the Western Command of the Indian Army.

Sharing his plans on X, he wrote, "Just landed in Chandigarh. Looking forward to visiting the Western Command of the Indian Army."

NHRC orders report on DU journalist assault case

NEW DELHI

The National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) on Monday issued notices to the Deputy Commissioner of Police (DCP), North Delhi, and the Vice Chancellor of Delhi University regarding the alleged assault of a female journalist and content creator during a UGC protest at Delhi University's North Campus on February 13.

The complainant alleged that a mob attacked her physically and verbally, targeting her based on caste, and threatened her with further violence. The incident has been described as caste-based violence, an infringement on press freedom, and a serious violation of her fundamental rights to life, dignity, and personal security. She sought an impartial investigation, action against the accused, security measures, legal aid, and compensation.

The NHRC, presided over by Member Priyank Kanoongo, said the allegations prima facie indicate a violation of human rights. The Commission has directed the DCP and Vice Chancellor to inquire into the matter and submit an Action Taken Report within two weeks.

Taking to X, Priyank Kanoongo stated, "A complaint has been received of violent misconduct towards a female journalist at Delhi University. The miscreants will be dealt with as per the law. We will not tolerate the insult to women under any circumstances."

The NHRC's intervention underscores its commitment to protecting the rights of journalists and ensuring accountability for violence and harassment on university campuses.

FTAs with EU-US boost India's exports

New Delhi

Delhi HC favors Saregama over Ilaiyaraaja rights

New Delhi

The Delhi High Court granted an ex-parte interim order in favour of Saregama India Limited in a copyright case against composer Ilaiyaraaja. The order stops him from using certain film soundtracks and musical works claimed by the company. Justice Tushar Rao Gedela heard the case, noting that Saregama, earlier "The Gramophone Company of India Limited," had agreements from 1976 to 2001 giving it copyright ownership. Ilaiyaraaja is barred from granting licences or claiming ownership of these works.

Maha Cong chief challenges BJP over Shivaji-Tipu remarks

BJP legislator Narayan Kuche had announced a Rs 2 lakh reward for anyone who would cut Sapkal's tongue

MUMBAI

Maharashtra Congress President Harshwardhan Sapkal on Monday issued a bold challenge to the BJP after comparing Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj with 18th-century Mysuru ruler Tipu Sultan in terms of bravery.

BJP legislator Narayan Kuche had announced a Rs 2 lakh reward for anyone who would cut Sapkal's tongue. Responding, Sapkal said if the BJP proves any historical inaccuracy in his remarks, they were free to cut his tongue.

Sapkal added on X that if his tongue's cutting could protect farmers from unfair imports, ensure debt-free farming, stop communal hatred, or reclaim territory from China, then "by all means" it could be done. He accused the BJP of seeking his punishment to hide its constitutional changes and political misdeeds.

Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis condemned the comparison as "disrespectful" and "unacceptable," stating Shivaji Maharaj is a revered figure in Maharashtra and India, known for justice and the Maratha Empire. He called Tipu Sultan's legacy controversial, alleging the comparison insulted Maharashtra's people and demanded an apology from Sapkal.

Protests erupted outside Congress Bhavan, where BJP and Congress supporters clashed, leaving nine injured, including two journalists and two police personnel. Sapkal accused the BJP of "selective outrage" and challenged it to also burn effigies of past leaders like Bhagat Singh Koshyari and V. D. Savarkar for controversial remarks about Shivaji.

Pune Police registered cross-FIRs: one against Sapkal for "hurting religious sentiments" and others against BJP leaders over the violence. Sapkal reiterated he had clarified his statement and accused the BJP of spreading venom to create trouble, insisting they need no lessons about Shivaji Maharaj from the party.

'Gov skipping assembly address not unusual'

HP CM Sukhu says Governor Shukla skipping full Assembly address is not unprecedented and stresses that the Revenue Deficit Grant is the state's right, not charity

Himachal Pradesh Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu on Monday said Governor Shiv Pratap Shukla's decision to skip reading the full customary Assembly address "is not an exception." Speaking after the opening day of the Budget Session, Sukhu explained that past governors had also skipped portions of the address.

He clarified that the matter concerns safeguarding Himachal Pradesh's financial entitlements, not seeking aid. "RDG is our right. We are not asking for any charity. Don't harm the rights of the state," Sukhu said. He emphasized that being a hill state, Himachal cannot be compared to larger states in terms of revenue generation, as geographical constraints and limited natural resources reduce its financial capacity.

Sukhu noted that the discontinuation of the Revenue Deficit Grant followed the 16th Finance Commission's recommendations. The state government had called the three-day Assembly session primarily to deliberate on this issue. He urged opposition parties, including the BJP, to rise above party lines and join efforts to seek restoration of the state's rights from the Centre.

Governor Shukla, during the session, read only a few lines of the customary address and placed the speech on the House table, objecting to references concerning constitutional institutions.

The Revenue Deficit Grant and Himachal Pradesh's financial position are expected to dominate discussions throughout the ongoing Budget Session, with CM Sukhu highlighting that protecting the state's entitlements is crucial for its development and fiscal stability.

ED attaches properties in NDPS money case

MUMBAI

The Enforcement Directorate (ED) has attached seven properties, including Mumbai flats, worth about Rs 5.88 crore in an NDPS-linked money laundering case. The properties belong to Faisal Shaikh, Alfiya Shaikh, and others. The probe, based on an NCB complaint, revealed Faisal Shaikh sourced the drug Mephedrone from kingpin Salim Dola. Faisal and Alfiya reportedly ran a network supplying the drug to Samiya Khan, Nasir Yasin Khan, Azim Abu Salim Khan, and others, who then sold it to retail buyers.

Delhi Assembly Privileges Committee sets March 6 as final date for Kejriwal to respond on 'Faansi Ghar'

Delhi Assembly Panel gives Kejriwal a final chance

NEW DELHI

The Delhi Assembly's Committee of Privileges on Monday granted a "final chance" to former Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal and other Aam Aadmi Party leaders to appear in person and give statements regarding the 'Faansi Ghar' issue on March 6. The panel made this decision after Kejriwal requested a hearing in the first week of March.

Other AAP leaders, including former Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia, former Speaker Ram Niwas Goel, and former Deputy Speaker Rakhi Birla, also submitted written replies seeking a short extension to record their statements. The Committee considered these requests and scheduled the final date to ensure the inquiry proceeds without further delays.

The matter was originally raised by Delhi Assembly Speaker Vijender Gupta and concerns the authenticity of the 'Faansi Ghar' inaugurated on August 9, 2022, within the Assembly premises. The Privileges Committee was directed to investigate to assess the facts and procedures surrounding the inauguration.

Committee Chairperson Pradyumn Singh Rajput, along with members Surya Prakash Khatri, Abhay Kumar Verma, Ajay Kumar Mahawar, Satish Upadhyay, Neeraj Basoya, Ravi Kant, Ram Singh Netaji, and Surender Kumar, reaffirmed their commitment to transparency, accountability, and institutional integrity.

The panel emphasised that full cooperation from Kejriwal and other concerned individuals is vital for completing a fair and comprehensive inquiry. The final hearing on March 6 will provide the opportunity for all leaders involved to clarify their positions before the Committee submits its findings.

Kejriwal to appear before Delhi Assembly Panel

Former Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal has agreed to appear before the Delhi Assembly's Privileges Committee regarding the authenticity of the "Faansi Ghar" in the first week of March. Kejriwal cited his busy schedule for missing Monday's hearing and requested the Committee to schedule it between March 2 and 6, 2026. He challenged the panel's jurisdiction, saying the matter relates to the dissolved 7th Vidhan Sabha and is not essential for the Assembly's functioning. A hearing on his plea challenging the Committee's authority is scheduled in the High Court on February 21.

Kolagani Srinivas elected mayor of Karimnagar CMC

KARIMNAGAR

BJP's Kolagani Srinivas was on Monday elected as the Mayor of Karimnagar Municipal Corporation. Union Minister Bandi Sanjay Kumar and other party leaders congratulated him at the Municipal office following his victory.

The elections were held on February 11 across seven Municipal Corporations and 116 municipalities in Telangana, covering a total of 414 wards in the corporations of Kothagudem, Karimnagar, Mahabubnagar, Mancherial, Nizamabad, Nalgonda, and Ramagundam, along with 2,582 wards in the 116 municipalities.

While the BJP celebrated Srinivas' win in Karimnagar, the Congress party also claimed victory in several areas. Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha, Rahul Gandhi, thanked the people of Telangana for supporting Congress, calling the mandate a reflection of "people-first policies rooted in social justice, dignity, and inclusive growth." In an X post, he praised party leaders and workers for their efforts, saying the success strengthens the vision of a "Prajala Telangana" where progress reaches every family.

Congress chief Mallikarjun Kharge also expressed satisfaction over the results, thanking grassroots workers and asserting that the mandate reflects the trust of the people.

Akali Dal alleges AAP used govt funds for rally

CHANDIGARH

The Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) on Monday accused the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) of using government funds to hold a rally in Moga, urging Punjab Governor Gulab Chand Kataria and the Election Commission of India (ECI) to act. SAD leader Daljit Singh Cheema alleged that AAP linked the event with the government's 'Yudh Nashain Virudh' scheme, but it was effectively an election rally for the 2027 Assembly polls.

Cheema said government money was spent to transport attendees and cover the rally's entire cost, even though AAP National Convener Arvind Kejriwal and Delhi leaders, who have no role in Punjab governance, presided over it. He described the event as politically motivated, with speeches targeting opponents and making unverified allegations.

The SAD urged the Governor and ECI to recover the expenses, stating the rally violated norms and should not be considered a government function. Cheema also criticised the involvement of the Chief Secretary and Director General of Police, warning it could politicise the bureaucracy. He said forcing officers to attend political rallies threatens democracy and undermines free and fair elections.

The controversy highlights concerns over the misuse of public resources in election campaigning and the potential impact on administrative neutrality ahead of Punjab's upcoming Assembly elections.

TN BJP chief regrets comment on Trisha

CHENNAI

Tamil Nadu BJP chief Nainar Nagendran on Monday expressed regret after his comment about actor Trisha Krishnan drew widespread criticism from political leaders. Speaking in Tirunelveli, he said the remark was unintentional and slipped out while responding to TVK leader Vijay's speech in Salem on February 13. Nagendran added that BJP national women's wing president Vanathi Srinivasan had discussed the matter with him and reiterated, "If my words caused discomfort, I sincerely regret it."

The remark triggered backlash from DMK MPs Thamizhachi Thangapandian, Kanimozhi, and Congress MP Sudha Ramakrishnan, who called it unacceptable and disrespectful, stressing that personal attacks on women undermine democratic discourse.

Actor Trisha also condemned the comment through her lawyer, calling it "derogatory and inappropriate." She clarified she has no political affiliations and prefers to remain neutral. "Disrespectful behaviour must always be condemned," she said, urging that her name not be dragged into political matters.

Trisha emphasised she wants recognition solely for her professional work and noted that public officials should exercise responsibility and restraint while speaking.

HP Guv skips key Finance Commission address

SHIMLA

Himachal Pradesh Governor Shiv Pratap Shukla on Monday surprised legislators by completing his 50-page customary Budget Session address in just a few minutes, skipping portions related to the 16th Finance Commission. He read only the opening lines covering supplementary demands for 2025–26, the Budget for 2026–27, and other legislative business.

Observers noted the move avoided discussion on the discontinuation of the Revenue Deficit Grant (RDG), a critical issue for hill and small states like Himachal Pradesh. Historically, Himachal has consistently received RDG since the first Finance Commission in 1952, which helps fund development projects, welfare schemes, and disaster management. Paragraphs 15 and 16 of the speech, skipped by the Governor, highlighted the adverse impact of RDG discontinuation on Special Category States.

Political analysts said the Governor's brief address sets an "aggressive tone" toward the Opposition BJP, which has criticised the Congress government over alleged fiscal mismanagement and stalled Central-funded projects, including a medical device park.

Rajasthan HRC acts after dog bites tourist

JAIPUR

The Rajasthan State Human Rights Commission (RSHRC) on Monday took notice of a stray dog biting an Israeli tourist at Jaipur International Airport's Terminal 2. The victim, arriving from Delhi, was attacked near the arrival gate and left bleeding.

Airport staff provided first aid and rushed her to a private hospital. Reports revealed the same dog had bitten three other people the previous week, yet no action was taken to remove it.

The Commission issued notices to Jaipur Municipal Corporation, Jaipur Police, Deputy Commissioner Sanganer, and Jaipur Airport authorities. It specifically directed the airport manager to reimburse all medical expenses and provide appropriate compensation to the victim. Chairperson Justice GR Moolchandani said such incidents harm Jaipur's image as an international tourist destination and contradict the spirit of "Padharo Mhare Desh."

The RSHRC highlighted that stray dog attacks are frequently reported across Rajasthan and emphasized the need for strict adherence to Supreme Court and Rajasthan High Court guidelines on handling dangerous dogs. The Commission said airport authorities, CISF, municipal officials, and district administration are jointly responsible for rescuing aggressive dogs and relocating them to veterinary hospitals or safe shelters.

The case will be reviewed on March 5, 2026, to check compliance with the orders. The Commission stressed that allowing tourists to be attacked by known stray dogs is unacceptable and urged authorities to ensure stricter safety measures at Jaipur Airport to protect visitors and maintain the city's reputation as a global tourism hub.

'India's energy decisions based on cost not pressure'

India clarified that its energy purchase decisions will be guided by costs, risks, and availability, not political pressure

NEW DELHI

At the Munich Security Conference on Saturday, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar emphasized India's commitment to strategic autonomy amid recent US sanctions on Russian oil.

His remarks came after US leaders, including President Donald Trump and Secretary of State Marco Rubio, claimed that India had agreed to halt additional imports of Russian crude following new US sanctions on Moscow's energy sector.

Jaishankar strongly refuted these claims, stating that India remains independent in its foreign and energy policy decisions. "We are very much wedded to strategic autonomy because it is very much a part of our history and our evolution," he said during a panel discussion with German Foreign Minister Johann Wadephul. He added that strategic autonomy is a core principle supported across India's political spectrum.

Highlighting the complexity of the global oil market, Jaishankar explained that Indian oil companies, like those in Europe, make decisions based on practical considerations. "They look at availability, look at costs, look at risks and take decisions that they feel are in their best interest," he said. When asked directly about stopping Russian oil purchases, he reiterated India's independent approach: "Would I make choices which may not agree with your thinking — yes, it can happen."

India has not officially confirmed or denied the US claims regarding Russian oil. This energy debate coincides with a recalibration in India-US trade ties. Following a recent phone call between Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Trump, both nations announced a reduction in US tariffs on Indian goods from 50 per cent to 18 per cent, including removal of a 25 per cent tariff imposed last year over India's Russian oil imports.

India's firm stance signals that its energy and trade decisions will continue to prioritize national interest over external pressures.

Asian markets rise on US rate-cut hopes

Tokyo

Asian markets opened slightly higher on Monday as easing selling pressure and softer US inflation data fueled hopes of a Federal Reserve rate cut later this year. Japanese shares rose after reports showed the economy grew in the fourth quarter of 2025, recovering from the previous slump. The yen stayed mostly steady against the dollar. Australian stocks also climbed, while China's markets remain closed for Lunar New Year. US markets were shut for Presidents' Day.

NPCI expands UPI wallet for global delegates

NEW DELHI

The National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI) on Monday said it has extended its 'UPI One World' wallet service for foreign delegates attending the India AI Impact Summit 2026. Pakistan has increased petrol by PKR 5 and high-speed diesel by PKR 7.32, citing global market movements and regulatory recommendations

Pak economy in shambles: Fuel prices soar amidst public outrage

ISLAMABAD

The Pakistan government on Sunday announced a hike in fuel prices, raising petrol by PKR 5 per litre to PKR 258.17 and high-speed diesel (HSD) by PKR 7.32 to PKR 275.70 per litre for February.

The petroleum division attributed the increase to international market trends and suggestions from the Oil and Gas Regulatory Authority (Ogra).

HSD is widely used in heavy transport vehicles, agricultural machinery, and trains, meaning the price rise could lead to higher costs for vegetables, grains, and other essential items. Petrol, mainly used in private vehicles, rickshaws, and two-wheelers, directly affects the daily budgets of middle- and lower-middle-class families. Residents expressed concern over the growing burden of fuel costs amid ongoing inflation.

Earlier this year, flour prices also surged in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa, particularly in Shangla and surrounding districts. A 20-kilogram bag now costs around PKR 2,850, while a 40-kilogram pack sells for up to PKR 5,700 and a 50-kilogram bag for roughly PKR 7,000. Citizens blamed weak government oversight, hoarding, and profiteering for making basic food items unaffordable.

The combination of rising fuel and food costs is intensifying financial strain for low- and middle-income households. Economists warn that continued increases in transport and agricultural costs could push overall inflation higher in the coming months.

Residents are urging both the provincial and federal governments to implement strict price controls on essential commodities and ensure transparency in fuel distribution to protect vulnerable families.

Without timely action, the rising cost of living could further strain household budgets across Pakistan.

Pausing rally, gold, silver ETFs fall as precious metals decline

NEW DELHI

Gold and silver prices fell on Monday as the US dollar strengthened following US inflation data. MCX April gold futures dipped 0.56 per cent to Rs 1,55,023 per 10 grams, while MCX March silver futures dropped 1.99 per cent to Rs 2,39,501 per kg around 12:30 am.

The dollar index rose 0.10 per cent to 97 after January's US CPI showed a 0.2 per cent increase, down from December's 0.3 per cent. Annual US inflation came in at 2.4 per cent, lower than the previous 2.7 per cent. Analysts said a stronger dollar makes bullion more expensive for buyers holding other currencies.

Gold is expected to find support at Rs 1,54,000 and Rs 1,53,150, with resistance at Rs 1,56,800 and Rs 1,58,200. Silver's support lies at Rs 2,38,800 and Rs 2,32,000, with resistance at Rs 2,49,100 and Rs 2,55,000.

Despite short-term dips, analysts noted the broader trend for precious metals remains positive due to geopolitical tensions, central bank buying, and investors seeking alternatives to bonds and currencies. COMEX silver is trading between $73 and $84 after a sharp correction from record highs above $121, reflecting short-term bearish pressure.

Investors are closely watching upcoming US economic releases, including the Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) minutes, GDP estimates, and PCE inflation data, for guidance on the Fed's interest rate moves.

Market participants are also monitoring crude oil price trends, influenced by US-Iran talks and ongoing Russia-Ukraine negotiations, which could impact global inflation and commodity markets further.

Anthropic opens Bengaluru office, expands India ties

BENGALURU

Anthropic has opened its new office in Bengaluru, marking its second base in the Asia-Pacific region. The move comes as India becomes the second-largest market for its AI assistant, Claude.ai, reflecting strong adoption across enterprise, education, and agriculture sectors.

The Bengaluru office will be led by Managing Director Irina Ghose. She highlighted India's highly skilled developer community and robust digital infrastructure, noting that nearly half of Claude usage in the country involves computer and mathematical tasks such as building applications and modernising systems. Anthropic also reported that its run-rate revenue in India has doubled since October 2025.

Several partnerships accompanied the launch. Air India is using Claude Code to accelerate software development, while Cognizant has deployed the AI tool to 350,000 employees worldwide. In the social impact sector, the company is working with Pratham to pilot an "Anytime Testing Machine" for students in 20 schools.

Anthropic is also focusing on regional language capabilities, curating training data in 10 Indian languages including Hindi, Bengali, and Tamil. Collaborations with Karya and the Collective Intelligence Project are testing model performance on local tasks in agriculture and law.

The company is leveraging the Model Context Protocol (MCP) in India, with the Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation recently launching the first official government MCP server. Swiggy is also using the open-source protocol to allow users to order groceries directly through Claude.

Irina Ghose said India represents "one of the world's most promising opportunities to bring the benefits of responsible AI to vastly more people and enterprises." She added that the country's technical talent and digital ecosystem provide a strong foundation to ensure AI technology reaches those who can benefit most.

Pentagon threatens to end Anthropic AI ties over dispute

NEW DELHI

US based artificial intelligence firm Anthropic is facing a serious challenge as the Pentagon considers ending its partnership with the company over how its AI models can be used by the US military.

Reports say Pentagon officials are unhappy that Anthropic insists on keeping some limits on the use of its AI, especially for military purposes. The defence department, also called the Department of War in some reports, wants AI tools that can be used for "all lawful purposes," including weapons development and battlefield tasks. Anthropic has resisted loosening its safety rules, leading to growing tension with US defence leaders.

One point of controversy is the reported use of Anthropic's AI model Claude during a US military operation that captured former Venezuelan President Nicolás Maduro. Claude was deployed through a partnership with AI software firm Palantir Technologies. Although neither Anthropic nor US officials have publicly confirmed the details, multiple media reports link the AI's use to that mission.

Anthropic emphasises its commitment to safe and ethical AI. The company has said it continues to support US national security work, but wants to ensure its technology is not used for autonomous weapons or mass domestic surveillance.

Analysts say it would be difficult for the Pentagon to replace Claude quickly because competing models are still being developed.

'AI will not kill jobs but will unbundle them'

NEW DELHI

Artificial Intelligence (AI) is advancing at a record pace, and the sector is expected to see massive growth in the coming three years, Puneet Chandok, President of Microsoft India and South Asia, said on Monday.

Speaking at the "AI for Disaster Management" session during the AI Impact Summit 2026, Chandok highlighted the speed of AI development over recent months, calling the progress "incredible."

AI models are evolving fast, and the sector could grow exponentially over the next three years, says Microsoft India President Puneet Chandok

Chandok noted that coding is one of the most important applications of AI today. What began as simple coding assistance has now grown into integrated business operations. "AI-powered digital colleagues are increasingly becoming teammates within organisations," he said. AI is also drafting legal documents, raising questions about how companies manage control and sovereignty over these systems.

He stressed that businesses are moving from cloud-first to AI-first strategies. "The next generation of companies will be built primarily on AI foundations rather than just cloud infrastructure," Chandok explained.

Responding to concerns about job losses, he said AI will not destroy jobs but will reshape them. "AI will not kill jobs, but it will unbundle jobs," he said, urging individuals to continuously upgrade their skills. "If you are not learning AI today, you are not learning anything," he added.

Chandok predicted that AI growth over the next three years could scale up a thousand times, reflecting the technology's rapid evolution and adoption. He emphasized that the world is ready to embrace AI and that organisations must adapt quickly to leverage its potential fully.

With AI becoming more powerful and pervasive, businesses and individuals alike must prepare for a future deeply shaped by artificial intelligence.

'India must use AI urgently for inclusive growth'

MUMBAI

As the India AI Impact Summit 2026 began in New Delhi on Monday, senior policymakers emphasized the need to use artificial intelligence (AI) to drive inclusive growth across the country.

Chief Economic Advisor V. Anantha Nageswaran warned that delaying AI adoption each year limits economic and technological opportunities. "India needs to act now to use the benefits of AI to promote inclusive growth," he said, adding that the country could become the first large society where human potential and machine intelligence reinforce each other.

Nageswaran called for a "Team India" approach, involving government, private sector, academia, and policymakers, and stressed strengthening foundational education and scaling high-quality skills. He noted that AI progress "will not happen by drift" and requires urgency, political will, and strong state capacity. He also recommended reforms in education and skills, expansion of labour-intensive services, and removal of regulatory bottlenecks, warning that lack of action could trigger social and economic instability.

S. Krishnan, Secretary of the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology, highlighted the importance of keeping AI human-centric and democratically accessible. "There needs to be democratic access to AI resources, and it must be done in a way that people are at the centre of this process," he said, describing AI as a key driver of growth for India and the Global South.

Earlier, Prime Minister Narendra Modi welcomed global participants, calling it a matter of great pride that people from around the world are attending the summit.

The AI Expo, running from February 16 to 20 alongside the summit, will cover more than 70,000 square metres across 10 arenas. It will host technology firms, startups, academia, Union Ministries, state governments, and international partners, showcasing AI innovations and their potential to accelerate economic and social development in India.

CRISIS WORSENS

Flour crisis deepens in Baloch as prices surge

BALOCHISTAN

Flour prices in Quetta are rising sharply, adding to the struggles of households already hit hard by record inflation. A 50-kilogram bag now sells for around Rs 6,600 to Rs 6,800, while a 20-kilogram pack costs Rs 2,650 to Rs 2,750, figures that were unimaginable only months ago.

Residents from low- and middle-income neighborhoods say they must carefully calculate daily expenses, often reducing consumption, borrowing, or relying on relatives. Many report that wages remain stagnant while food costs continue to climb, forcing families into financial stress. Community elders blame weak enforcement for unchecked price hikes by retailers.

The situation is particularly worrying as Ramazan approaches, a month when food consumption traditionally rises. Vulnerable families fear they may not be able to store even the minimum flour needed for sehri and iftar. Citizens are urging authorities to act immediately, calling for subsidies, stricter inspections, and penalties for profiteering. They warn that failure to intervene will damage public trust in official relief promises and worsen hardship.

The Quetta crisis reflects broader challenges across Balochistan, where transportation issues and supply disruptions keep prices higher than in other provinces. Families say patience is running out, and what they need most is practical help rather than assurances.

Traders continue to raise rates with little accountability, and authorities have yet to offer visible relief. Residents hope urgent steps will be taken to make flour affordable before Ramazan, as soaring prices threaten not only daily meals but also the ability to observe traditional fasting rituals. Without swift intervention, hardships in Quetta are expected to deepen further in the weeks ahead.

Karnataka's Energy Evolution: Last 1,000 days under Energy Minister KJ George

Over the past roughly 1,000 days, the Karnataka Energy Department has navigated a transformational journey — steering the state's energy landscape from periods of challenge to notable achievements in power security, renewable expansion, infrastructure strengthening, and consumer welfare. At the heart of these efforts has been Energy Minister K. J. George, whose leadership has aimed at strengthening reliability, promoting sustainability, and supporting agrarian and household power needs.

While challenges remain – especially in storage infrastructure and scaling emerging technologies – the consolidated efforts over the last ~1000 days have laid a firm foundation for Karnataka's energy future. Overall, through targeted reforms, infrastructural investments, renewable energy scaling, and welfare-oriented schemes, the Karnataka Energy Department under Minister K. J. George has delivered significant progress. The focus on stability, sustainability, and inclusivity is reshaping the state's energy narrative – moving it closer to energy security, green transformation, and widespread societal benefit.

National recognition and 'Energy Efficiency' awards

The state's efforts have not gone unnoticed at the national level. Karnataka earned the National Energy Conservation Award for its accomplishments in energy efficiency and conservation, reflecting its strong performance in the State Energy Efficiency Index over multiple years. This award underscores the government's commitment to sustainable practices and benchmark performance in efficiency across sectors. Minister George, while acknowledging these accolades, emphasized that energy conservation efforts are integral to combating climate change and improving long-term sustainability.

- Future Outlook and Strategic Priorities
- Looking ahead, Karnataka's energy trajectory appears focused on several strategic priorities
- Augmenting renewable capacities (solar, wind, hybrid systems.
- Building energy storage solutions such as pumped hydro and battery installations to address intermittency.
- Enhancing grid robustness to support energy export opportunities.
- Continuing consumer-friendly policies that balance affordability with environmental responsibility.

Power security and uninterrupted supply

One of the most significant accomplishments during this period has been Karnataka's consistent power availability with no reports of unscheduled power cuts. In recent remarks, Minister George highlighted that Karnataka now enjoys a surplus power position, where interruptions occur only for planned maintenance, and not due to shortages. This marks a shift from earlier volatility in energy supply, ensuring residents and businesses operate without unexpected disruptions.

The increased demand for electricity in the state — rising from approximately 8,000 MW to nearly 14,000 MW — has been met with strategic planning and proactive grid management. By balancing generation, distribution, and demand-side measures, the Energy Department has prioritized elevation of supply reliability across urban and rural sectors.

Transition from 'deficit to surplus

There was a time not too long ago when Karnataka grappled with power shortfalls. However, over the last few years this narrative has reversed. In 2024, the energy sector saw a sweeping turnaround: from facing supply constraints to generating enough electricity not just for internal consumption but also to sell on power exchanges. In fact, Karnataka reportedly earned over ₹1,400 crore by selling electricity in the market and returned significant power units to states from where it had borrowed during lean periods.

This achievement reflects the Energy Department's strategic emphasis on strengthening generation capacity, effective grid management, and optimizing supply mixes — including hydropower, thermal, and renewable sources. Notably, three major thermal power plants overseen by the state energy corporation (KPCL) have posted record generation figures, showcasing both capacity augmentation and enhanced operational efficiency.

Expansion of renewable energy & clean power goals

Karnataka's strides toward clean and sustainable energy have been remarkable. The state has consistently increased renewable energy generation, pushing green sources closer to the core of its energy mix. On certain days, renewable resources have powered up to 80% of the state's electricity supply, driven by robust wind and solar output along with hydropower contributions.

Under Minister George's tenure, investment in renewables has been a key priority. Initiatives include large-scale solar parks — for instance, proposed projects similar to existing ones like Pavagada Solar Park — and significant targets to expand wind and hybrid capacities in collaboration with central and private entities.

A major milestone was Karnataka leading the nation in wind power capacity additions for the 2024–25 period, with over 1,300 MW installed, earning recognition during Global Wind Day celebrations. The government highlighted plans for expanding up to 17 GW of future wind projects and establishing renewable energy reserve zones to systematically harness wind resources.

These efforts align with the broader vision of India's net-zero and sustainability targets, strengthening Karnataka's position as a leader in renewable energy adoption among Indian states.

Infrastructure growth & distribution enhancements

To support growing demand and improve power delivery, the Energy Department has emphasized infrastructure expansion. Plans were unveiled to erect multiple substations across the state, aimed at reducing distribution losses and boosting grid resilience. These substations also facilitate smoother handling of demand fluctuations in both agricultural and residential segments.

Workforce strengthening has been another critical focus. Minister George announced major recruitment and placement drives for thousands of linemen and engineers to address operational shortages that previously slowed pole shifting, transformer repairs, and new line installations. This cadre boost is likely to accelerate rural electrification and enhance service quality across utility companies.

These moves reflect a holistic approach — integrating physical infrastructure with human resource capacity to ensure that expanded generation and ambitious renewable goals translate into real benefits for end users.

Consumer-centric initiatives: Farmers & households

A defining theme of the last three years has been the government's attention to power affordability and equity. Under the Gruha Jyothi scheme, eligible households receive free electricity for up to 200 units per month, significantly reducing energy costs for millions across the state. This subsidy scheme has seen widespread enrollment and has become a cornerstone of poverty alleviation and economic support.

Karnataka Labour Ministry: Championing Protection for Migrant Labour and Gig Economy Workers

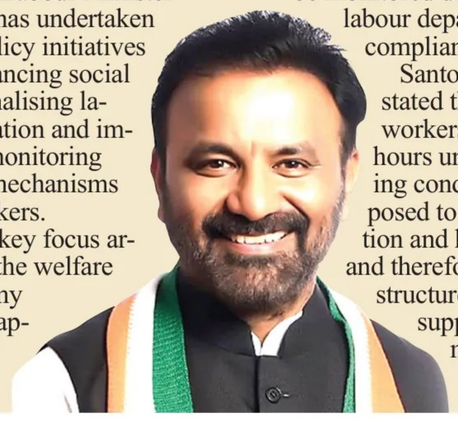
The Karnataka Labour Ministry plays a pivotal role in safeguarding the rights, welfare, and working conditions of millions of workers in the state. With rapid economic growth in sectors such as construction, services, domestic work, and digital platforms, Karnataka has one of India's most diverse labour forces. Among these, migrant labourers and gig workers represent especially vulnerable segments whose informal employment status traditionally left them outside the ambit of social security and formal protections.

Karnataka attracts large numbers of internal migrants due to its industrial expansion and booming urban centres. According to labour department estimates and national registrations, tens of lakhs of workers in Karnataka are identified as unorganised or interstate migrants, although only a fraction are formally registered in welfare databases. Many of these workers come from states such as Bihar, Odisha, Jharkhand and West Bengal to take up construction, domestic services and other informal jobs that are essential to the state's economy but often lack statutory protections and benefits.

Recognising these challenges, the Labour Ministry under the leadership of Labour Minister Santosh Lad has undertaken a series of policy initiatives aimed at enhancing social security, formalising labour participation and improving the monitoring and welfare mechanisms for these workers.

One of the key focus areas has been the welfare of gig economy workers—a rapidly growing category of workers engaged through digital platforms for services like ride-sharing, food and grocery delivery, logistics, and other app-based gigs. In August 2025, the Karnataka Legislature passed the Karnataka Platform-Based Gig Workers (Social Security and Welfare) Bill, 2025, a landmark piece of legislation piloted by Santosh Lad that seeks to extend social security and safety protections to gig workers.

The Bill mandates the creation of a Gig Workers Welfare Board and a Gig Workers Welfare Fund, financed by a welfare fee collected from platform aggregators (ranging from 1 % to 5 % of payouts), to ensure benefits like income security, occupational health protections, and dispute resolution mechanisms. It also requires gig workers to be registered and platforms to maintain transparent records of transactions and payments, which can be monitored digitally by the labour department for compliance.



Santosh Lad has stated that many gig workers put in long hours under challenging conditions—exposed to traffic pollution and health risks—and therefore need structured welfare support that moves beyond traditional contract definitions.

Beyond gig workers, the ministry has also been proactive in supporting migrant labourers through measures such as issuing smart cards to register unorganised workers, enhancing access to welfare benefits, and inaugurating temporary housing complexes for construction labourers in industrial zones. These initiatives aim to bridge the gap between formal welfare schemes and the informal nature of much migrant work.

To improve monitoring of migrant labour, state policies increasingly emphasise better registration and data integration, cooperation with national labour databases (like e-Shram), and coordination with district administrations to identify and enrol migrant workers into welfare programmes. This data-driven monitoring is crucial given that many migrant labourers remain undocumented in official records.

Overall, the Karnataka Labour Ministry, guided by Minister Santosh Lad, is expanding the state's labour governance framework to be more inclusive of informal, migrant, and platform-based workers—recognising that a secure and equitable labour ecosystem must adapt to new forms of work while strengthening protection for those who have historically lacked formal rights and recognition.

Transforming Healthcare Sector: Karnataka's Medical Education Dept Marks 1,000 Days of Progress Under Sharan Prakash Patil

Over the past 1,000 days, Karnataka's Medical Education Department has undergone a period of accelerated growth and structural reform, guided by the leadership of Sharan Prakash Patil, Minister for Medical Education and Skill Development. With a clear emphasis on accessibility, infrastructure expansion, and quality enhancement, the department has strengthened Karnataka's position as a leading hub for medical education and public healthcare in India.

One of the department's most visible achievements has been the expansion and upgradation of government medical colleges across the state. Under Minister Patil's stewardship, several district hospitals have been upgraded with modern diagnostic facilities, advanced operation theatres, and improved emergency care units. These upgrades have not only enhanced patient care but also created improved learning environments for undergraduate and postgraduate medical students.

A major thrust area has been increasing medical seats to meet the growing demand for healthcare professionals. By systematically strengthening faculty recruitment, improving teaching infrastructure, and ensuring compliance with national regulatory standards, Karnataka has added new MBBS and postgraduate seats in government institutions. This expansion directly contributes to addressing the doctor–patient ratio and strengthening rural healthcare delivery in the long term.

The department has also prioritized the modernization of medical equipment and digital health systems. Teaching hospitals have adopted upgraded laboratory services, imaging facilities, and digital record-keeping systems. These initiatives have allowed students to train in technology-enabled environments while ensuring faster and more efficient patient services. Telemedicine facilities have also been expanded, bridging gaps between tertiary care centers and remote communities.

Another key milestone in the past 1,000 days has been the strengthening of super-specialty services in government medical institutions. Departments such as cardiology, neurology, nephrology, and oncology have been expanded in select colleges, enabling advanced treatment at affordable costs. This move has reduced the need for patients to travel outside the state for specialized care, while simultaneously exposing students to complex clinical cases.

Human resource development has been a consistent focus. The department has taken measures to streamline faculty appointments and ensure transparent recruitment processes. By addressing faculty shortages and encouraging academic research, the government has aimed to create a more robust academic culture within its institutions. Increased emphasis on research publications, skill development programs, and simulation-based training has further strengthened academic standards.

Importantly, infrastructure development has extended beyond classrooms and wards. Student hostels, staff quarters, and campus facilities have been upgraded in many institutions to create supportive learning environments. These improvements reflect a broader understanding that medical education depends not only on academic excellence but also on adequate living and working conditions.

Public health responsiveness has also improved under the department's guidance. Teaching hospitals have enhanced their emergency preparedness, ensuring better coordination during public health challenges. Investments in oxygen plants, critical care beds, and infection control systems have strengthened institutional resilience and readiness.

Oppn protests grow over Imran Khan's medical care

A senior leader of MWM said protests will continue in Islamabad and Balochistan, warning that history does not forgive oppressive rulers

QUETTA

A senior leader of Majlis Wahdat-i-Muslimeen (MWM) has strongly criticised the government's handling of peaceful protests demanding treatment for jailed former Prime Minister Imran Khan.

Allama Ali Hasnain Husaini said authorities denied food, water and medicines to key opposition figures during a sit-in in Islamabad.

He said Senate Opposition Leader Allama Raja Nasir Abbas Jafri and National Assembly Opposition Leader Mahmood Khan Achakzai were not given basic necessities for three days. Husaini called the move undemocratic and inhuman. He warned that the government would be fully responsible if any harm came to the leaders.

Jafri, who has diabetes, needs regular medicine, Husaini said, calling it a basic human right. He added that protests would continue in Islamabad and Balochistan, warning that history does not forgive oppressive rulers.

Lawmakers have staged a sit-in outside Parliament House and Khyber Pakhtunkhwa House since Friday. They are demanding proper medical care for Khan, founder of Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf. Protesters say his right-eye vision has fallen to 15 percent. A medical report submitted to the Supreme Court of Pakistan stated Khan suffered a blood clot that badly damaged his eye. The report was filed by lawyer Salman Safdar after visiting him in Adiala Jail. Khan was recently taken to Pakistan Institute of Medical Sciences for an eye procedure. His party said neither his family nor senior leaders were informed about the treatment.

Activists raise alarm over Pak judicial actions

A human rights group claims Pakistan is misusing courts to silence activists, citing delays in bail hearings and harsh sentences against prominent campaigners.

QUETTA

A leading rights organisation has accused Pakistani authorities of using the judiciary to silence activists, pointing to the continued detention of Mahrang Baloch and human rights lawyer Imaan Mazari-Hazir.

The Baloch Voice for Justice said the prolonged imprisonment of the two women reflects a wider effort to suppress marginalised communities. It noted that nearly a year has passed since Mahrang Baloch and other leaders of the Baloch Yakjehti Committee were arrested.

According to the group, the Balochistan High Court heard bail pleas on December 17, 2025. While the defence completed its arguments, prosecutors allegedly failed to present strong evidence. The court reserved its decision, but no verdict has been issued after almost three months.

The rights body said such delays violate Article 10-A of Pakistan's Constitution, which promises a fair and timely trial. It warned that justice delayed weakens trust in the legal system and harms personal liberty.

The organisation also raised concern that the Islamabad High Court has not scheduled hearings for cases involving Mazari-Hazir and her husband, Hadi Ali Chatta. It alleged interference by intelligence agencies in judicial matters, calling it a threat to judicial independence.

Last month, a court reportedly sentenced Mazari-Hazir and her husband to a total of 17 years in prison and fined them heavily in a case linked to social media posts.

The arrests and convictions have drawn international criticism, with activists saying the situation tests Pakistan's commitment to rule of law and civil liberties.

Tarique Rahman prepares to lead Bangladesh amid concerns over Jamaat influence and internal instability.

Tarique Rahman will take charge as Prime Minister following a massive election win by the Bangladesh Nationalist Party. Many citizens see his victory as a fresh start after a turbulent period under Muhammad Yunus.

However, concerns remain over the strong rise of Jamaat-e-Islami, which secured 77 seats, its best result ever. Analysts say Rahman's biggest challenge will be restoring order at home rather than managing foreign relations.

Security officials warn that Jamaat could try to pressure the new government if it is denied a major role. Though the BNP holds a clear majority, Jamaat's expanded reach gives it influence, especially in border areas near West Bengal.

Intelligence sources allege that during Yunus's tenure, relaxed visa rules and open sea routes benefited Inter-Services Intelligence operations. They claim these routes were misused for smuggling arms, drugs and militants.

Critics also accuse Jamaat supporters of encouraging mob violence, targeting media, minorities and political opponents. Police were often slow to act, further weakening law and order. Despite its gains, experts say Jamaat is disappointed it did not win power outright. The party has long faced criticism for opposing Bangladesh's independence in 1971. Observers believe voters rejected its ideology in favor of stability.

Rahman has promised balanced foreign ties while putting Bangladesh first. Officials say he is unlikely to allow Jamaat unchecked freedom, as his priority will be restoring peace and strengthening institutions in a divided nation.

Bondi beach shooter appears in Sydney court

SYDNEY

Naveed Akram, accused of the deadly Bondi Beach terror attack, appeared in a Sydney court for the first time on Monday. The 24-year-old faces 59 charges, including 15 counts of murder and one count of committing a terrorist act.

Akram appeared via video-link from a supermax prison, where he has been held since being discharged from hospital after the December 14, 2025 attack. Authorities allege that Akram, along with his father Sajid—who was shot dead by police at the scene—opened fire on a Jewish Hanukkah celebration using rifles and shotguns. The attack killed 15 people and injured dozens, marking Australia's deadliest mass shooting since 1996.

Court documents revealed that the father and son had practiced firearms training at a rural property before the attack. During Monday's administrative hearing, Akram remained mostly silent, speaking only when addressed by the presiding Magistrate. His lawyer, Ben Archbold, said it is too early to indicate what plea his client will enter. The case is set to return to court in April.

Earlier this month, Mike Burgess, Director-General of Security of the Australian Security Intelligence Organisation, told a Senate hearing that the attackers had successfully avoided detection before the attack. Burgess said the alleged terrorists "demonstrated a high level of security awareness to hide their plot" and effectively stayed off intelligence and law enforcement radar.

Authorities continue to investigate the circumstances of the attack, the motives behind it, and the security lapses that allowed it to occur. The trial of Naveed Akram is expected to draw significant attention due to the scale of the tragedy and its impact on the Australian community.

CHILDHOOD CANCER

Less than 30% of kids with cancer survive in Pak

ISLAMABAD

Health experts say fewer than 30 percent of children diagnosed with cancer in Pakistan survive, mainly due to late diagnosis and limited treatment facilities.

Around 10,000 children are diagnosed with cancer in Pakistan every year. Experts shared these figures at an awareness session organised by the Indus Hospital and Health Network. They said nearly 400,000 children and teenagers worldwide develop cancer each year, with about 80 percent of cases reported in low and middle-income countries.

In developed nations, survival rates range between 80 and 85 percent. However, in countries like Pakistan, survival is much lower because of delayed detection and lack of specialised care.

Dr Naeem Jabbar, a consultant in pediatric haematology-oncology, said most childhood cancers can be cured if treated on time. He explained that unlike adult cancers, childhood cancers usually have no clear link to lifestyle. With proper treatment, cure rates can reach up to 85 percent.

He added that survival in Pakistan remains low due to poor awareness of early symptoms, shortage of trained specialists, limited treatment centres and families stopping treatment because of high costs. Common cancers among children include leukaemia, lymphoma, brain and bone tumours, and other rare types.

Doctors said treatments such as chemotherapy, surgery and radiotherapy are available if started early. Dr Shumail Ashraf said the department in Karachi handles about 1,000 new cases yearly and has treated over 16,000 children since 2014.

Experts urged parents and teachers to recognise warning signs early and seek timely medical help.

Omarzai All-Round Heroics Seal Afghanistan Victory

Afghanistan secured their first 2026 T20 WC win, defeating UAE by five wickets

NEW DELHI

Afghanistan registered a crucial five-wicket victory over the UAE in the 2026 Men's T20 World Cup at the Arun Jaitley Stadium on Monday, keeping their slim Super Eights hopes alive. The win was powered by a brilliant all-round performance from Azmatullah Omarzai, whose incisive spell of 4-15 dismantled the UAE's lower order before his unbeaten 40 off just 21 balls guided Afghanistan home with four deliveries to spare.

On a surface with noticeable moisture, Omarzai adjusted his line and length cleverly, exploiting the conditions to trouble the batters. His disciplined approach ensured that the UAE, despite a promising start, could only post 160/9. Mujeeb Ur Rahman provided solid support with two wickets, while Rashid Khan delivered a tidy spell that restricted scoring in the middle overs.

The UAE innings was initially rocked by early setbacks, but a fluent 84-run third-wicket partnership between Alishan Sharafu and Sohaib Khan revived their fortunes. Sharafu struck a composed 40, while Sohaib continued his fine form at the venue with a well-crafted 68 off 47 balls, including five boundaries and two sixes. His second consecutive fifty at the ground helped the UAE recover momentum and push towards a competitive total, even as four wickets fell in the final five overs.

Chasing 161, Afghanistan faced early pressure but opener Ibrahim Zadran anchored the innings with a steady 53 off 41 deliveries, laced with five fours and a six. His composed knock stabilized the chase before his dismissal reopened the contest. The UAE bowlers, led by Muhammad Arfan's disciplined two-wicket spell, kept things tight and raised hopes of an upset.

However, Omarzai returned to the spotlight in the closing stages. Displaying composure and power, he struck two fours and three sixes in his match-winning cameo, ensuring Afghanistan clinched their first points of the tournament. Afghanistan's batting depth ultimately proved decisive against a UAE side whose middle-order collapse left them with a total that was competitive but not commanding. The result also confirmed South Africa's qualification for the Super Eights, joining India and the West Indies, who had already secured their spots.

Jaipur Clinch Raffles Sirmour Cup Title

JAIPUR

Jaipur Polo Team dominated Carysil Suhana to secure their eighth season title

Jaipur Polo Team produced a commanding performance to defeat Carysil Suhana 14–10 and lift the prestigious Raffles Sirmour Cup, marking their eighth title of an exceptional season. The victory was built on attacking precision, tactical discipline, and sustained control across six competitive chukkers.

Carysil Suhana made a confident start, applying early pressure and capitalising on quick transitions to establish a 3–1 lead at the end of the opening chukker. Their sharp movement and proactive play unsettled Jaipur in the early exchanges. However, Jaipur regrouped effectively in the second chukker, improving their possession game and tightening their defensive structure. Despite their resurgence, Carysil narrowly held onto a 4–3 advantage at halftime.

The contest turned decisively in the third chukker. Jaipur shifted gears with authority, unleashing a flurry of goals through swift ball movement and incisive forward play. Lance Watson spearheaded the charge with clinical finishing in front of goal, while Manuel Fernandez Llorente provided strong support in attack. Their combined efforts overturned the deficit as Jaipur surged ahead 8–6 by the end of the period, seizing full control of the momentum.

The fourth chukker evolved into a tactical battle, with both teams displaying defensive discipline. The score remained unchanged at 8–6, but Jaipur's composure and structured approach ensured they maintained control of proceedings. Gradually, they tightened their grip, dictating the tempo and limiting Carysil's attacking opportunities.

Jaipur extended their dominance in the fifth chukker, applying sustained pressure that translated into sharp finishing. Their relentless attacking display stretched the lead to 11–6, placing them firmly within sight of the trophy. Carysil Suhana mounted a spirited comeback attempt in the final period, with Matias Vial and Manuel Prado leading the charge and narrowing the margin.

However, Jaipur's attacking depth and game management proved decisive. Lance Watson delivered a standout performance with an impressive nine goals, anchoring the team's offensive superiority. Manuel Fernandez Llorente added four crucial strikes, while HH Maharaja Sawai Padmanabh Singh of Jaipur contributed one goal to seal the triumph.

Steve Smith Added To Australia Squad

Veteran batter strengthens Aus ahead of crucial T20 WC clash

DUBAI

Veteran batter Steve Smith has been officially added to Australia's squad for the ongoing T20 World Cup, providing a timely boost ahead of their must-win encounter against Sri Lanka at the Pallekele International Cricket Stadium in Pallekele on Monday evening.

Smith's inclusion comes at a critical juncture in the tournament, with Australia needing a victory to keep their campaign on track. Known for his composure and vast experience in high-pressure situations, Smith's presence is expected to add stability to the batting order. His ability to anchor innings while accelerating when required makes him a valuable asset, particularly in crunch games.

Australia's campaign has faced stiff competition in the group stages, and team management appears keen to reinforce the squad with proven performers. Smith, who has featured prominently across formats for Australia over the years, brings tactical awareness and adaptability to different match scenarios. His experience in subcontinental conditions could prove crucial on the Pallekele surface, which often offers assistance to both spinners and stroke-makers.

The clash against Sri Lanka is seen as pivotal for Australia's progression in the tournament. With net run rate and points table dynamics playing a significant role at this stage, every aspect of team balance becomes vital. Smith's addition may allow Australia to restructure their batting combination, potentially offering greater flexibility in the middle order.

Sri Lanka, meanwhile, are expected to pose a strong challenge on home-like conditions. The evening fixture under lights at Pallekele could also bring dew into play, influencing bowling strategies and field placements.

Australia's team management has expressed confidence that Smith's inclusion will provide the necessary depth and experience for the high-stakes contest.

As the five-time world champions prepare for the decisive encounter, all eyes will be on how the reshaped lineup performs in what promises to be a fiercely contested battle.

Jack Jarvis approved as replacement for injured Safyaan Shari

DUBAI

Jack Jarvis has been approved as a replacement for injured seamer Safyaan Sharif in the Scotland squad for the ongoing ICC Men's T20 World Cup, the ICC said on Monday. Sharif injured his right groin during a team training session on February 12 and will be replaced by Jarvis, who has eight T20I caps for Scotland and was already with the squad as a travelling reserve.

The Event Technical Committee (ETC) of the ICC Men's T20 World Cup 2026 has approved Jack Jarvis as a replacement for Safyaan Sharif in the Scotland squad, the ICC said in a statement.

The ETC consists of Wasim Khan ICC General Manager Cricket (ICC Representative), Gaurav Saxena (IBC Representative), Hemang Amin (Host Representative), Shaun Pollock (Independent Representative). Having been handed a late invite into the tournament less than three weeks ago, Scotland coaching staff and players had to swiftly pivot from pre-season training to tournament mode, whilst behind the scenes operational planning went into overdrive to ensure the squad reached India with enough preparation time.

Three matches in Kolkata saw a comprehensive victory over Italy countered by defeats to the West Indies and to England, the latter in front of 50,000 spectators at Eden Gardens. Scotland, sitting third in Group C, now head to Mumbai to face Nepal on Tuesday evening but require other results in Group to fall in their favour if they are to progress to the Super Eights.

Scotland's 11th hour entry, replacing Bangladesh, marked a fifth consecutive appearance at Men's T20 World Cups. Scotland: Richie Berrington (c), Tom Bruce, Matthew Cross, Bradley Currie, Oliver Davidson, Chris Greaves, Zainullah Ihsan, Michael Jones, Michael Leask, Finlay McCreath, Brandon McMullen, George Munsey, Jack Jarvis, Mark Watt, Bradley Wheal.

Ganguly on India's dominance over Pak in T20 WC

NEW DELHI

After India recorded a 61-run triumph over arch-rivals Pakistan in the Group A clash of the ICC Men's T20 World Cup, former India skipper Sourav Ganguly believes the idea of an automatic big match between India and Pakistan is outdated, as the intensity and competitiveness that once defined the rivalry no longer feel the same. Defending champions India's win over Pakistan also confirmed their place in the Super Eights. Ishan Kishan's blistering 77 had set the tone earlier in the evening, and India's bowlers ensured the target of 176 was always out of reach to dismiss Pakistan for 114 in 18 overs.

Cerundolo wins Argentina Open title, his first ATP Tour crown since 2024

BUENOS AIRES

Top seed and local favorite Francisco Cerundolo secured his fourth ATP title with a 6-4, 6-2 win over Italy's Luciano Darderi in the Argentina Open final. A defeated finalist in 2021 and 2025, hometown favourite Cerundolo held his nerve in a see-saw final set, in which all but two games featured at least one break point, to lift his fourth ATP Tour trophy and his first on Argentine soil.

Cerundolo struggled at times on serve but dominated at the baseline to take the match in one hour and 37 minutes on the outdoor clay of the Buenos Aires Lawn Tennis Club.

The 27-year-old broke Darderi early in both sets and sealed victory with a trademark inside-out forehand. This is the best moment of my career so far, said Cerundolo, who had lost two previous finals at the ATP 250 event.

I wanted to win in my hometown and country, in front of my family and friends. I thought this day might never come but today I played one of the best matches of my career. I played aggressively and didn't let him take the initiative at any stage. It's a final so you have to go for it, and I played for every point here.

Second seed Darderi won 73 percent of points on his first serve but just 24 percent on his second, while committing 29 unforced errors. The No. 19 player in the ATP Rankings, Cerundolo is the seventh home champion in the history of the Argentina Open, which was first held in 2001.

Carlsen Crowned First Freestyle Chess Champion

NORWAY

Norway's Magnus Carlsen added yet another accolade to his illustrious career, becoming the first official FIDE Freestyle Chess world champion with a comeback victory over American grandmaster Fabiano Caruana in Germany. The 35-year-old sealed the title in Weissenhaus with a composed draw in the fourth and final game of the match, completing a 2.5–1.5 triumph against his 33-year-old opponent. The result marked a historic milestone in the newly formalised freestyle format under the International Chess Federation (FIDE), further reinforcing Carlsen's status as one of the game's greatest competitors. Carlsen's path to the crown, however, was far from straightforward. The defining moment of the contest came in Sunday's dramatic third game.

Rashid Khan Claims Historic 700th T20 Wicket

NEW DELHI

Afghanistan captain Rashid Khan etched his name deeper into cricketing history by becoming the first player to claim 700 wickets in T20 cricket. The landmark moment came during Afghanistan's Men's T20 World Cup Group D encounter against the United Arab Emirates at the Arun Jaitley Stadium in New Delhi on Monday.

Rashid entered the contest on 699 wickets and reached the milestone in the 16th over of the UAE innings. Muhammad Arfan attempted a reverse sweep but missed the delivery and disturbed his stumps, resulting in a hit-wicket dismissal. The wicket handed Rashid his historic 700th scalp in the shortest format of the game. Notably, the leg-spinner refrained from an animated celebration, choosing instead to stay focused as Afghanistan sought a crucial win to keep their slim Super Eights hopes alive.

The achievement followed a brief wait. Rashid had moved to 698 and 699 wickets during Afghanistan's previous match against South Africa at the Narendra Modi Stadium in Ahmedabad last week. In New Delhi, he bowled 3.2 overs without success before finally striking. Prior to dismissing Arfan, he had conceded 17 runs in 20 deliveries, underlining the patience required before reaching the milestone.

Rashid has long dominated the T20 wicket charts. Retired West Indies all-rounder Dwayne Bravo sits second with 631 wickets, while fellow West Indian off-spinner Sunil Narine is the closest active cricketer with 613 scalps.

In the international arena, Rashid also leads the list of T20I wicket-takers with 191 wickets for Afghanistan. New Zealand's retired pacer Tim Southee, with 164 wickets, and leg-spinner Ish Sodhi, with 162, follow him on that list.

Speaking last week about the impending milestone, Rashid had maintained a grounded perspective. 700 wickets, whatever the achievement is, it will continue. I have not kept any target in my mind that I will take 700 wickets and stop. When I play for the national team at the World Cup, I make 100% effort. And when the team requires it, I take the wicket, he said. With this historic feat, Rashid Khan further cemented his legacy as one of the finest T20 bowlers the game has witnessed.
